

It is a familiar scenario. You have a project to undertake or are experiencing a shortfall in expertise due to increased workload, sickness or holidays. You know someone who would be able to assist, but don't want the administrative burden associated with employing them short-term. Maybe you can't employ them as they are recently retired or redundant.

This is where we can help.

Following your introduction, we can engage your preferred candidate as an agency worker under our Terms of engagement/contract for services and supply them to you under our standard terms of business.

How easy is it?

To get the process started all we require initially is a quick phone call or email

You advise Kings Hill Recruitment of the personnel you wish to payroll along with their salary, holiday entitlement etc and contact details.

We then liaise directly with the candidate to confirm everything necessary to engage them as a temporary worker and payroll them, making payment by BACS.

They then send us a timesheet on a weekly or monthly basis authorised by you confirming the hours worked.

We then payroll them and invoice you for the hours worked at the agreed rates.

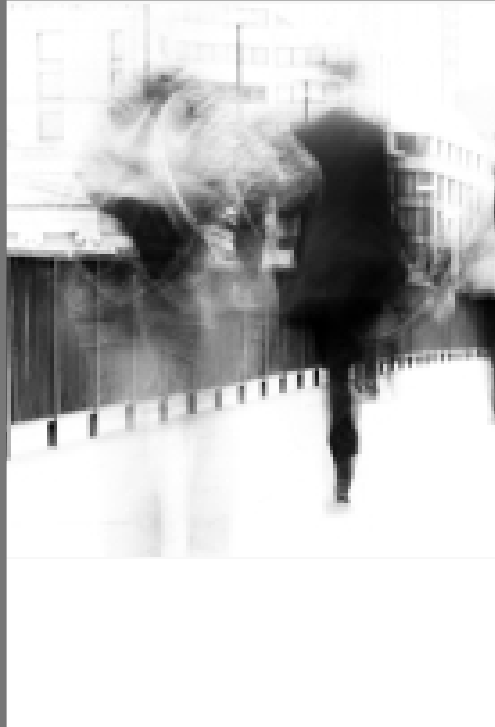

We would be delighted to answer your questions about how we could assist you:
